DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

On page 6, line 6, the examiner understood "cursor 40" to be "cursor 42".

On page 7, lines 7 and 32, the examiner understood "controller 36" to be "controller 32".

On page 9, line 6, the examiner understood "change" to be "chance".

On page 9, line 7, the examiner understood "loose" to be "lose".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 1, 16, and 30 objected to because of the following informalities:

Regarding claims 1 and 30, "said image" lacks antecedent basis.

Regarding claim 16, "said touch sensitive display" lacks antecedent basis.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1, 3, 5-6, 12, 14-15, 18, 20, 21, 23, and 25-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Abecassis (5610653).

Regarding claim 1, Abecassis discloses an apparatus that automatically customizes a viewer-selected video in response to the viewer's preferences (Abecassis: column 1, lines 20-23). This apparatus comprises "initiating an object tracking system" (Abecassis: figure 11A, column 41, lines 52-55, wherein the system is initiated as indicated by the start process and by using the remote), "magnifying the image while the object tracking system is activated" (Abecassis: figure 10D, column 42, lines 11-16, wherein the user presses a button to zoom, the object is the target), "selecting an object of interest in an image while the system is activated" (Abecassis: figure 10D, column 41, lines 52-61, wherein the user selects an object by using a target pointer and pressing a button on the remote), and "designating the object as the target of the tracking system while the system is activated" (Abecassis: figure 10D, column 41, lines 52-61, wherein the target pointer indicates the target).

Regarding claims 3, 12, 18, and 23, Abecassis discloses "the image is magnified by adjusting an electrical signal representing a part of the image" (Abecassis: column 42, lines 11-16, wherein the magnification is done using a remote which adjusts the electrical signal to the desired zoom level).

Regarding claims 5, 14, and 20, Abecassis discloses "automatically changing the scale of the image following designation of the object as the target" (Abecassis: column 41, lines 62-64, wherein the image is all the contents contained within the frame, changing the scale is adjusting the window frame to display the target in the center of the frame).

Regarding claims 6, 15, and 25-26, Abecassis discloses "moving a cursor to superimpose the cursor on the object of interest in the image" (Abecassis: figure 10D, wherein the cursor is the target pointer 1091 and the object of interest is the car 1092) and "signaling the tracking system that the cursor is superimposed on the object of interest" (Abecassis: column 41, lines 52-61, wherein signaling to the tracking system is done by the remote which indicates to the system that the target pointer is situated on or superimposed on the target).

Regarding claim 21, note the examiners rejections for claims 1 and 5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 3, 4, 7-11, 13, 16-17, 19, and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Abecassis (5610653) in view of Lee (6507366).

Regarding claims 2, 11, 17, and 22, Abecassis differs from claim 2 in that claim 2 further requires the image to be magnified by adjustment of an optical lens. Lee teaches that prior art camera systems the camera cannot track the object when the object is beyond the range in which the camera can be rotated in a horizontal or vertical direction (Lee: column 1, lines 47-50). To fix this problem, Lee discloses a method for expanding an object using a zooming operation which adjusts the optical lens of a camera (Lee: column 1, lines 53-60, column 3, lines 27-30). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to take the apparatus disclosed by Abecassis and add the zooming method taught by Lee in order to obtain an apparatus that more efficiently tracks an object by being able to zoom in on the object when the object travels out of range.

Art Unit: 2613

Regarding claims 4, 13, 19, and 24, Lee discloses "the magnification is an automatic result of the initiating the object tracking system" (Lee: figures 3A-3C, column 4, lines 39-56, wherein the magnification is the zooming. Once the system is initiated, the zooming automatically adjusts to the targets location).

Regarding claims 7-10 and 16, although not disclosed, the object tracking system could comprise a touch screen display that simultaneously selects and designates the target upon the next touch of the display (Official Notice). Doing so would have been obvious in order to make the apparatus more user-friendly by providing the benefits of a touch screen display.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 30-32 are allowed.
